Pi Tau Sigma

- ❖ Founded in 1915, Pi Tau Sigma is the largest mechanical engineering honor society, and is based on integrity, service and leadership.
- ❖ Open to only the top 35% of junior and senior mechanical engineering students, Pi Tau Sigma attracts the brightest young engineers in the country.
- ❖ With over 170 chapters across the country, Pi Tau Sigma has a diverse nationwide member base.

2018 Convention at the University of Miami

Every year, hundreds of mechanical engineering students, as well as professors and industry professionals, gather for the Pi Tau Sigma National Convention. The convention is the largest Pi Tau Sigma event of the year, and features design competitions, seminars and networking opportunities.

The 2018 convention will be held from February 23–25 at the scenic University of Miami. The University of Miami is a renowned academic institution that is committed to developing passionate students and engaging in cutting-edge research.

At the convention's career fair, your company will have access to the top mechanical engineering students from across the country. Recruiting and networking with these future leaders will give your company an advantage in today's competitive market.
